Crazy about corn
LAB

Group member names:

Product A

1. What type of corn product is this? Make a guess, then your teacher will tell you.
   Our guess: \underline{Corn Snack}  The Answer: ______________________

2. How does your product look similar to a kernel of corn?
   \underline{Grain}

3. What could you do to the corn kernels to make them look more like your product?
   What part(s)? List.
   \underline{Cook it or Bake it}

4. Do you think the whole corn kernel was used to make your product or only part of the kernel?
   \underline{Yes}

5. Is your product similar to any other food product? If it is, does this help you think about how your product was made?
   \underline{Yes}
Crazy about corn
LAB

Group member names:

Product B

1. What type of corn product is this? Make a guess, then your teacher will tell you.

   Our guess: Green corn syrup
   The Answer: ____________

2. How does your product look similar to a kernel of corn?

   It doesn't

3. What could you do to the corn kernels to make them look more like your product?
   What part(s)? List.

   Change the color + harden it

4. Do you think the whole corn kernel was used to make your product or only part of the kernel?

   No, maybe certain part

5. Is your product similar to any other food product? If it is, does this help you think about how your product was made?

   No because there's no specific clues
Crazy about corn
LAB

Group member names:

Product A

1. What type of corn product is this? Make a guess, then your teacher will tell you.
   Our guess: [handwritten] Corn starch  The Answer: Corn meal

2. How does your product look similar to a kernel of corn?
   by the little pebbles it is yellow

3. What could you do to the corn kernels to make them look more like your product?
   What part(s)? List.
   the endosperm

4. Do you think the whole corn kernel was used to make your product or only part of the kernel?
   no. endosperm and seed coat

5. Is your product similar to any other food product? If it is, does this help you think about how your product was make?